

One by one i see my men decay.
Carcass of flesh is all that remains,
while they breath, are not alive
open eyes that cannot see.

Night after night there's a victim
and no one knows who'll be the next.
In this wooden cage among the sea
and hell, we find something worst than death.

There is a traitor among us.
a devil! is witchcraft! a curse!
I know there's something between us.
the wicked is taken our souls.

Twenty we sailed, and now we are six
I am afraid, I can't deny Mystery still, driven by the waves.
We steal in the sea, and sea steals our lives.

There is a traitor among us.
a devil! is witchcraft! a curse!
I know there's something between us.
the wicked is taken our souls.

No one a board and I am not guilty, I swear.
Yesterday fell my last remaining comrade.
I'll meet my fate, strong till the end.
I'll give them fight, vicious and rabid. Aye!

Destiny arrives and I see the forces behind.
Possessed my beloved ship who took the spirits to live.
I'm about to die, and it will prevails.
Crossing the waters with no tripulation.
We wanted to sail and now we're condemned with our dream.